John Doyle, Friday, October 14th; 8pm

From a musical family in Dublin, John’s influences include well-known English folk singers Nic Jones, Martin Carthy, Richard Thompson, and The Watersons; Scottish singers Dick Gaughan and John Martin; and fellow Irishmen Paul Brady and Al O’Donnell, as well as his father, Sean Doyle — probably the biggest influence of all.

John went on to form the highly acclaimed super group, Solas, with Seamus Egan, John Williams, Karan Casey and Winifred Horan which took the folk and Celtic music worlds by storm, in no small part due to John’s powerhouse rhythmic guitar style and innovative arrangements. As a member of Solas, John has appeared on many national TV and radio programs: NBC’s Today Show, programs for NPR and Public Radio International, A Prairie Home Companion. There are few artists more respected in the genre or more in demand in the studio, as songwriter, and as performer. John's website: www.johndoylemusic.com/

At St. John's Lutheran Church, 81 Christopher Street. Contribution: general public $25; FMSNY members $20. You can order tickets online at http://johndoyle.eventbrite.com (a small fee is charged).

Fall is truly here, with leaves turning color and even cooler weather (as I write this, it is a very warm September day) and, of course, lots of music. Our Fall Folk Music Weekend still has spaces left. The staff is great, the participants (that’s us) are wonderful and a good time will be had by all. Don’t forget to get your registration in now!!

We have our usual Irish Traditional Music Sessions, Sunnyside Singers Club, Shanty Sing, and Folk Open Sing. In addition, there is the Maritime Music & Song Session, Vincent Cross at the Good Coffeehouse and a concert with John Doyle. Don’t forget to check out the People’s Music Network’s Local Gathering this month.

As we mentioned earlier, two of our members, Ben Schechter and Gordon Hayes passed away recently. In this issue, we have wonderful remembrances of them. We will miss them.

Just a note about TradMaD. I was so glad I was able to go. The program was great, and it was good to be back at Pinewoods Camp in Mass. again. I can’t wait to attend next year again!

Of course, another exciting event is our monthly mailing. Come and join us on Thursday, October 27th. We need your help. Thanks to the volunteers last month: Stephen & Marilyn Suffer, Rosalie Friend, Clarice Kjerulff, Fran Levine, Don Wade and yours truly, Eileen Pentel.

A concert recommendation from your Club President, Evy Mayer

My connection with Childsplay comes from the time when I was doing a lot of contra dancing. I first heard this group at a dance weekend in Cape May, NJ, which was called "Victoria’s Revenge." This group produced such wonderful music, that I tried to attend their concerts every time they came to NYC. They will be celebrating 30 years of touring by bringing their band of 14 fiddlers and 9 all-star instrumentalists, dancers and singers back to Symphony Space on Friday, November 18th. All the fiddlers in Childsplay perform on instruments made by violin maker Bob Childs of Cambridge, MA. Their level of musicianship is truly exceptional. Their music traditions range from Irish, French-Canadian, Cape Breton, Bluegrass, Appalachian, and Scandinavian fiddle music, to jazz, swing, and classical music. There will be a singer, Karen Casey, and a dancer, which makes for a well-rounded evening.

There is a $5.00 discount, on regular (not senior/student) tickets for members. Use FMSNY as the code when ordering. www.symphonyspace.org

Ben Shechter 1940-2016

Ben came from Israel to New York in 1966 and worked as a graphic designer. We were married for 48 years and were a 2 person atelier. I taught him everything that I knew about fine art and he taught me presentation. He encouraged me in my early exhibition success and he had a fine art career. (You can easily find information and images on the internet.)

Our first Pinewoods event was the 20th Anniversary party. He quickly learned songs in many genres, ballads, sea music, bluegrass, country-western and blues. His voice ranged from bass to tenor to falsetto. He accompanied me (who is tone illiterate) on guitar, concertina and tin whistle. I taught him everything that I knew about rhythm. Alas, only slightly improving his dancing. As in art, we were partners in folk music.

In public he was easy going and friendly and the unofficial second in command at the Wednesday singalongs in Park Slope. Over the years we have participated in the shanty sings, weekends, concerts and house parties

I have been putting a small amount of his recorded music on YouTube. Use my name or his to access.

In Memorium—Gordon Hayes

My life partner of 40 years, K. Gordon Hayes, a member of FMSNY since the 1970s, died June 28, succumbing to throat cancer after a ten-week hospitalization. He would have turned 76 in August.

Gordon was introduced to the Pinewoods Folk Music Club when he met Irene Anderson at a jam. She invited him to a party where she said he’d be able to make music with members of a club who were skilled and enthusiastic players. We discovered that Pinewoods members were also very warm and welcoming people. We spent more than 35 years attending FMSNY events. Gordon was heartbroken to be too sick to attend this last Spring Weekend.

Gordon called himself “a mono-maniac,” his mania being music. For many years he earned his living as a musician, gigging at resorts, bar mitzvahs, singles dances, and other venues, as well as teaching private music lessons to children and adults (including several FMSNY members) in, as he put it, “all instruments and voice.” During the last 20 years of his life, Gordon’s instrument-playing distilled down to piano (the instrument on which he was the most skilled), nylon-string guitar (his favorite instrument), fiddle, and flute. However, earlier on, he “noodled around” on a wider variety of instruments. He played gigs on electric organ, 12-string guitar, electric guitar, electric bass, accordion, trap drums, saxophone, diatonic harmonica, and synthesizer. He was able to teach beginners on clarinet, trumpet, 5-string and tenor banjos, mandolin, ukulele, and vibraphone. He just dabbled on Caribbean steel drums, viola, cello, bass fiddle, oboe, trombone, chromatic harmonica, and bagpipes for his own pleasure (or frustration).

Gordon started piano lessons at the age of five. In junior high school, he was in a special vocal music program, where he played Ko-Ko, the Lord High Executioner in Gilbert and Sullivan’s The Mikado and Hansel in Humperdineck’s Hansel and Gretel. Because of his participation in this school program, he obtained his first professional auditions. He performed in the children’s chorus in Bizet’s Carmen in a NYC Opera production at City Center, and he became a member of the paid choir of The Church of the Transfiguration (“The Little Church Around the Corner”), first as a soprano, then continuing as a countertenor until he was 23.

Attending Music and Art High School, he majored in vocal music. While there, he studied music theory with Irving Glaser. Irving claimed to remember enjoying teaching Gordon. However, Gordon doubted it, because he had failed Irving’s class, staring at a pretty girl instead of listening to Irving’s lessons. At that point, Gordon wanted to be the next Frank Sinatra.

Gordon briefly attended CCNY. In his early twenties, he began attending Juilliard in composition, studying with Peter Schickele. Gordon left Juilliard, as well, wanting to spend time on music with wider appeal. So he bought a guitar, and, at the age of 24, left for southern California to make it in the music business. He was accompanied by his closest childhood friend, Tom O’Keefe, who had played opposite Gordon in the junior high high musical productions, and had sung with him at the “Little Church Around the Corner.”

Gordon had many successful moments in the music business, both in California and when he returned to New York City two years later. Gordon formed a duo with a guy he met in California, and they performed at numerous bars and clubs, including The Troubadour in West Hollywood. Gordon’s biggest West-Coast success was The Candy Company. Electric guitarist Doug Rowell and Gordon formed the group. Gordon played the electric bass, and identical twin sisters did vocals. The band had a contract with ABC-Paramount, and recorded a 45rpm with songs co-written by Gordon and Doug which was played on “Rate-the-Record” on Dick Clark’s American Bandstand. The band performed at many venues including Knott’s Berry Farm. When the twin sisters dropped out, Gordon decided that it was time to return to New York.

Earning his bread-and-butter from the “workhorse” gigs that he played after his return to the East Coast, Gordon continued to promote the more creative side of his music. He formed a nine-piece band, Snugglepatch, that made a demo of one of Gordon’s songs. The song wasn’t picked up, but a smaller version of the group became the house band for the Rocking Horse Ranch (only a few miles from The Hudson Valley Resort and Spa)

Gordon sang and played guitar on the soundtrack of the cult classic Putney Swope. In 1971, he began playing electric bass for Tom Rapp’s folk-rock band, Pearls Before Swine. Gordon toured the U.S. and the Netherlands with the band, again playing at The Troubadour in West Hollywood. He performed on one of the Pearls Before Swine albums, and his photograph appears on another. When Bela Fleck formed his early (first?) bluegrass band—Bela was 16, his sidemen were adults—Gordon played guitar. And, when Gordon sent out a demo tape of his instrumental compositions, his music was featured in a Kodak television commercial.

Challenged for several decades by chronic illness and disability, Gordon gradually became less able to perform, teach, and promote his music. This is when his participation in the FMSNY became the most important to him. He considered music a way to communicate, so that playing with other musicians was essential to his musical identity. Jamming with the skilled players of FMSNY enabled him to keep his hand in as a musician.

Gordon continued to play his instruments for six to seven hours daily up until he entered the hospital. When the blood vessel burst in his throat, the event which sent him to the ER, he had just finished playing the piano for three hours.

The Society is run entirely by volunteers with a Board of Directors elected by the membership. The working officers below (members of and elected by the board) welcome your help and suggestions.

Memberships are listed on the back page; regular memberships help support the society and include one subscription to the newsletter (10-11 issues yearly) and reduced admissions. Won’t you join us?

Fair Trade Music 1000

The FMSNY executive board has agreed to the American Federation of Musicians Local 1000 Fair Trade Music principles for our concert program. In essence it means that our club agrees to pay at least union scale to the performers in those concerts, including house concerts, for which we are the primary sponsor. Our agreement does not cover non-concert events such as sing-arounds and weekends, nor does it cover concerts featuring our own club members and concerts where we are a cosponsor but from which we receive no income. For more information please visit: www.fairtrademusic1000.wordpress.com.

COLLEEN CLEVELAND is a fifth-generation singer of traditional ballads and songs passed on by her grandmother, Sara Cleveland. Colleen and her Dad, Jim, keep the family songs alive. They received the 1994 Traditional Arts of Upstate New York Heritage Award. The family repertoire runs the gamut from 15th-century Irish, Scots, and English ballads to local area songs, cowboy songs, Civil War and World War I songs.

ARCHIE FISHER is Scotland’s foremost troubadour, a stunning singer of traditional and contemporary songs, a fine songwriter, and a master guitarist. Hailing from a singing family in Glasgow, those musical beginnings have propelled him through five decades as a performer, documentarian, and host of BBC Radio Scotland’s award-winning “Traveling Folk” show. He is a Member of the British Empire, an honor recognizing “distinguished service to the arts” and an inductee in the Scots Traditional Music Hall of Fame.

DENNIS STROUGHMATT, fingers and bow flying, takes listeners on a musical odyssey of Upper Louisiana Creole culture. Schooled by local Creole fiddlers living along the Mississippi River near St. Louis, Dennis is now the authority. A vibrant blend of Celtic, Canadian and Old Time sounds, this music bridges gaps between contemporary Canadian and Louisiana Cajun styles. Preserved by families in the Ozark foothills, the music remains largely intact and true to the traditions passed down over three centuries.

SUSAN TRUMP is a much sought-after instructor and performer. Susan’s magic stems from her ability to link the pastoral, tranquil images of traditional rural America to our contemporary life. Her songs touch the heart, recall the past, and inspire the times ahead. Her sense of humor always adds a fresh touch to her performances, combined with her outstanding artistry on the mountain dulcimer, guitar, banjo, and fretless banjo.

About the Fall Weekend

From dinner on Friday night to lunch on Sunday, expect a weekend full of music, camaraderie, and relaxation. Then we'll play Themes from a Hat, followed by late-night jamming and singing (with snacks and coffee). Plus a Silent Auction to benefit our scholarship funds.

The weekend offers a variety of workshops, a dance, a Camper Concert, (all attendees are invited to perform), and an evening concert, with late-night jamming and singing.
