PRENEWAL
Your membership expiration date is printed on your newsletter mailing label. If you send in your renewal before it expires, you will save wear and tear on Tom, our Membership Chair, and also save the club the cost of mailing you a reminder. Address to send to is on the back cover membership blank.
Thank you.
November is here and the holidays are fast approaching. We have musical and fun events that are coming up. Join us at the Hawaiian Music and Dance Night; Childsplay; Maritime Music and Song Session; Jean Farnworth at the Good Coffeehouse; the usual Irish Traditional Music Sessions; the Sunnyside Singers club in Woodside; Folk Open Sing; and the Shanty Sing. Of course, there is our fabulous Newsletter Mailing night.

We have sad news. Martha Davey passed away this month. She was a long time member who, even though she did move to Massachusetts, we always had some occasion to see her cheerful face. A caring partner for Sol Weber, who had had a stroke, she was instrumental in ensuring that he is getting the best care. The last time I saw her in New York, she was rushing to go back to Mass. to see him. She will be missed.

Oscar Brand passed away September 30th. Aside from hearing him on the radio and other occasions, I mostly remember him at the picnics we had at Jean Ritchie and George Pickow’s home which they held for the Folk Music Society. The picnics were a wonderful time and place to relax, enjoy the music and have a chance to schmooze with people. Oscar was always there, cheerful and relaxed. Condolences to his wife Karen and to his children. See more information about Martha and Oscar on page 7.

Thank you to the volunteers at our last mailing—Margaret Murray, Clarice Kjerulff, Betsy Mayer, Fran Levine, Lynn Cole, Eileen Pentel, and Don Wade. Come on and join us this month on Tuesday, November 29th!!!!

Book Review

_Dylan Goes Electric: Newport, Seeger, Dylan and the Night That Split the Sixties by Elijah Wald_

The first time I was at Folk Music Week at Pinewoods Camp (1977) I was on line one evening waiting to enter the dining pavilion. (In those days, being on line meant that one was standing in a queue.) I said to whoever was next to me that the program consisted of a lot of music that I was unfamiliar with; I thought it would be a lot of Bob Dylan material. Jean Ritchie, who was the program director that year, was nearby and she said to me “We don’t consider Bob Dylan to be folk music.” Ritchie had been a member of the board of directors of the Newport Folk Festival; and her remark may have reflected an attitude of disparagement toward Dylan that lingered from the 1965 edition of the gathering.

This work traces the career of Bob Dylan, the various strands and strains of the folk revival and the history of the Newport Folk Festival, to the culmination of all of them at the 1965 Festival when Dylan appeared with the electrified Paul Butterfield Blues Band.

The author’s thesis is that several forces came to a head that evening in Newport: Folk music was being eclipsed by the Beatles and their progeny. The institution of the Newport Folk Festival itself was being riven by the dissonance between the devotees of raw traditional music performed by authentic rural performers and those who preferred the urban commercial purveyors of the music. Although Dylan started out modeling himself after Woody Guthrie, he came to resist being typecast as the folk troubadour of his generation, and on that evening was simply continuing to evolve into a rock performer.

Martha Davey

I was so sorry to hear about the recent passing of Martha Davey. Today I spoke with Sol Weber on the phone, and he asked that we put this in the newsletter about Martha.

"Martha Davey was always enthusiastic in whatever she did. She was an activist, and loved to sing and dance. She was a fun person to have as a friend. She will be sorely missed." -Sol Weber

Cards can be sent to Sol c/o the Buckley HealthCare Center, 95 Laurel Street, Greenfield, MA 01301

If you would like to receive updates about funeral arrangements for Martha, or about Sol, e-mail me at: president(at)folkmusicny.org

OSCAR BRAND

A Small Tribute

The three Bs of classical music might be Bach, Brahms, and Beethoven, but back in the 1950s the three Bs of folk music were definitely Bikel, Brand, and Belafonte, at least here in the USA. It was a time when blacklisting had driven the Weavers from the airwaves and Pete Seeger had retreated to his cabin in the woods, Woody Guthrie was languishing in a mental hospital, Leadbelly was dead and gone, Joan Baez and Bob Dylan were still teenagers, and the Kingston Trio were yet to hit it big with their rendition of Tom Dooley. It was then that Theodore Bikel, Harry Belafonte, and Oscar Brand kept the flame of folk music alive. Bikel was always more of an actor than a folksinger, and Belafonte had the most commercial success, but it was Brand and his weekly Folksong Festival broadcast on WNYC that kept me coming back again and again. The show began more than a year before I was born, and I literally grew up listening to it and to the many wonderful folk musicians it presented, including Oscar Brand's friend and neighbor Jean Ritchie, who passed away last year.

As a child I could not possibly imagine that many years later I would meet, befriend, and sing with both Oscar and Jean. All the while Folksong Festival continued, and it long ago entered the Guinness Book of World Records as the longest continuously running radio program on the planet with its original host.

Rest in peace, Oscar. You were certainly one of a kind, but at the same time you were a leading member of a community of which I am both honored and proud to be a member.

Wald’s writing style struck me as too wise-guyish and his categorizations as too glib and overbroad. Nevertheless, folk devotees will welcome such a detailed examination of the personalities and the events of that time and the opportunity to ponder Wald’s take on them.

Mei-Mei Hammer

We received just at press time the sad news that Mary Margaret "Mei-Mei" Hammer MSW, CSW, (nee Hull), died peacefully on October 18th of MSA. A graduate of Oberlin, Yale, the Hunter School of Social Work and the New York Psychoanalytic, Mei-Mei was a staple of 96th Street, on the Upper West Side of Manhattan, where she lived and held her private psychotherapy/analytic practice. Mei-Mei was a singer and songwriter who self-produced a folk music CD. Mei-Mei was often seen running around the reservoir, biking around the park or holding the OP-ED section of the New York Times. She was known for her flowing silk garb, turquoise jewelry, love for conversation, Scrabble, cheese, wine, and music. She is beloved not only by her daughter, SIL, two grandchildren, three brothers, her friends, her patients and the Judson Church community, but also by anyone that was touched by her deep compassion and fierce loyalty. Her optimism shined through her courageous smile until the end. In lieu of sending cards or flowers consider a contribution in Mei-Mei’s name to WNYC/NPR, Judson Memorial Church or the Lower East Side Girls Club. Here is a link: http://www.girlsclub.org.

Please join us to celebrate Mei-Mei’s life: services will be held Saturday, November 5th at 10 am at: Judson Memorial Church, 55 Washington Square S., New York, NY 10012

Submitted by Toni Field who passed this on from a post from Melanie, Mei-Mei’s daughter.
