North American Urban Folk Music of the 1960s
Saturday, October 22nd; 1-10 PM; doors open 12:30 PM
Come celebrate the folk music scene of the 1960s which flourished in New York and in other cities throughout the USA and Canada, and come honor the people who were part of it. That was an era when "hootenanny" became part of our everyday language, when folk songs topped the pop charts, and when it seemed that nearly everyone was picking a banjo or strumming a guitar. Our host is Elisabeth Irwin High School, well known as a center of the urban folk music revival since its founding in 1941.

North American Urban Folk Music of the 1960s begins at 1:00 PM with The Great Folk Scare, a panel discussion about the decade. This will be followed from 2:45 to 6:00 PM by two Hoot in the Afternoon round robin concerts. After a break for dinner, there will be an evening concert starting at 7:30 PM featuring Happy Traum, Heather Wood, Jeff Davis, and Bev Grant and the Dissident Daughters. Daytime performers also include Alix Dobkin, Jerry Epstein, Toby Fagenson, Luke Faust, Charlie Ipcar, Pat Lamanna, Lisa Null, Anne Price, Jerry Rasmussen, and Peter Stampfel. These are people who were really there; this is not a reenactment!

Elisabeth Irwin High School is located at 40 Charlton Street between Varick Street and Sixth Avenue in Manhattan. The nearest subway stop is Spring Street on the C and E lines. For ticket prices and other information please go to www.folkmusicny.org/60s or see the ad on page 7. Tickets are available on-line at www.naufm.eventbrite.com as well as at the door. If you have any questions, please call Steve Suffet at 718-786-1533.

different traditional events on video and sound tape. He has been a singer of traditional English folk songs (as part of a duo called Dave and Dave) for all of these years, appearing on television, radio and at folk clubs and festivals all over England. Bad Alpha is Dave's daughter Polly and her man Ben, an innovative duo with their own songs and will make a cameo appearance. Heather Wood writes, "I've known Dave for 40+ years. He has a superb tenor voice, a goodly repertoire, and is altogether a delightful person. We will no doubt do some harmonizing. Don't miss this one!"

Seating is limited so register quickly for this house concert to be held at John Ziv’s and Deborah Rubin’s, 243 W. 98th St., apt 6A, near B’way, Manhattan. FMSNY members $12, non-members $15, children and F/T students $6. You must call 212-957-8386 for reservations.

Fall is truly upon us, with cooler and pleasant weather (we hope), leaves turning beautiful colors and music events in full swing. Come to our booth at the Medieval Festival in Fort Tryon Park—sing with us, hand out literature, and have a great time. Don’t forget the Sea Music Concert, the Irish Traditional Music Sessions, the Daniel Pearl concert—where you get to sing some of your favorite songs from many countries, the Dave Trenow house Concert (remember to make reservations, space is limited), Folk Open Sing, and the Shanty Sing. We also are presenting a day long/evening event of the North American Urban Folk Music of the 1960s. This is a special event that you don’t want to miss.

Remember to register for the Eisteddfod/Fall Weekend at the Hudson Valley Resort. It’s a great time and a great place to go. See you all soon.

Thank you to the volunteers without whom you would not get your newsletters! The following worked at the last mailing: Lynn Cole, Isabel Goldstein, Irv Landau, Brenda Pena, Eileen Pentel, Jerry Segal, Marilyn Suffet, and Don Wade. They could always use more help; won’t you join us and help mail out the next newsletter on Wednesday, October 26? (See listing on page 3.)

Will Wade-Pentel is the production assistant for the documentary, "Taking a Chance on God" by Brendan Fay. "The documentary," Will writes, "is about the incredible and unusual life story of Father John McNeill: a WWII veteran, prisoner of war under the Nazis, Vietnam war protester, human rights activist, psychotherapist, and most famously, a gay Jesuit Priest who defied the Catholic Church by preaching, and formally arguing, that it was okay to be Catholic and homosexual. Under orders straight from Cardinal Ratzinger (now Pope Benedict) in the Vatican, he was silenced and eventually expelled from the Jesuit Order. What is surprising, however, is how much he was able to say before he was silenced, including publishing a book called The Church and the Homosexual, and appearing on talk shows such as Larry King Live to champion his cause. He is currently 85 years old and still fighting for LGBT and human rights. To say his life has been inspiring and unusual is an understatement.” The film was accepted into the Woodstock Film Festival! It was shown on Sept. 24th at 3:15pm in the Woodstock Playhouse. This was the film’s world premiere. Further information is available on the internet:

News from Michael Cooney

"Thanks for the invite [to perform] but I'm mostly retired now. After all those years on the road, I hate to even go to the grocery store. Happy to putter around home, which is a tiny (4 rooms) cottage in 20 acres of woods on a lovely cove in a lobster-fishing village on the Rocky Coast o' Maine. Paradise.

"Meanwhile, we're scraping and brushing and washing and rinsing one side of our house; will paint it in a couple weeks. We've painted two sides so far, one side per year.

"I'm trying to get my clay oven finished. I built it last year; we could bake a pizza in two minutes, but the "clay" I used didn't have enough CLAY in it -- when we made pizzas, the first one [only the first, each time] had dirt on it. So I'm rebuilding using real clay from potters' trimmings. I have the main oven finished and an outside layer of insulation [a mix of clay and chainsaw-wood-chips]; now I need to do a couple finish layers. I also have to make a metal baking door. Last year's (metal-faced wood) door burned up when I left it in all night.

"We have a visiting fox, who comes almost every night around 5:30-6:00 and my wife tosses it chicken bones & skin. It eats the scraps on the lawn, then Margot throws it a dog biscuit which (doing a foxtrot!) it carries off and buries, usually in a vegetable or flower garden where the dirt is soft. It sometimes digs it up not long after. We can see the den from our window; it's lotza fun watching the little ones frolicking about in the spring. We're hoping, after two years of it, that this Fox Family thing will become a tradition around here.

"Well I have four cords of wood to stack (we heat with wood), grass to mow, a tent to set up, and a blueberry pie to make. And I'm avoiding by answering emails.”

Unforgettables - A Concert Review

On Thursday September 1, from 3 to 4 P.M., at the sanctuary of St. Peter's church on east 54th St. in Manhattan, about 50 people, including Evy Mayer and Al Cadwallader of the Folk Music Society of New York, attended a concert of the "Unforgettables," a chorus which rehearses once a week. It was formed in order to provide an opportunity for people with dementia and their family members to experience the pleasure of singing together, and to experience a sense of community through the power of song. This chorus, which had 22 members (11 dementia patients, each with a caregiver) at this concert, is part of a pilot research study being conducted by the Center of Excellence on Brain Aging at NYU's Langone Medical Center.

The chorus was conducted by Dale Lamb and Tania Papayannopoulou. Jan Maier, a resident of the Boston area, who is known to many of us from Pinewoods Camp, is a consultant. The September 1 program consisted of 18 well known songs, such as "This Little Light of Mine," "Getting to Know You," "Oh Susannah," "You Are My Sunshine," "Home on the Range," "Tumbalalaika," "Besame Mucho," and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

10/4/11-rf/dw/hw
Performers (alphabetical order)

Joy Bennett: As a member of the quartet Water Sign for 13 years, and a founding member of the all woman chantey group The Johnson Girls, she explored the close-knit harmonies of both traditional and contemporary folk music.

Ralph Bodington is a superb performer of banjo tunes and ballads from the old-time Southern mountain tradition. Ralph is deeply respected by musicians who have devoted their lives to Southern Mountain Music. His CD, Old Pains is treasured by musicians & singers.

Claire Boucher is a native of Sarzeau, on the Presqu’Ile de Rhuys in southern Brittany, the Celtic region of France. She sings traditional songs in French and Breton, a Gaelic language similar to Welsh. Now living in Montréal, Claire teaches traditional dances from her region, performs occasionally with the group Pevar and sings traditional duet material from Brittany with Olga Zaric.

Matt Brown performs American roots music with an expansive repertoire of toe-tapping square dance tunes, haunting solo pieces, and a variety of songs from the blues to ballads. He is an innovative fiddler, an intense banjo player, a propulsive guitar player, and a poignant singer. While much of his repertoire comes from the Appalachian south, he also loves sharing the songs of his home state, Pennsylvania. Matt delights his audiences with a wry sense of humor and a sound that is both authentic and inventive.

Martha Burns sings southern ballads, cowboy songs, comic ditties, turn-of-the-century heart-throbbers, and whatever else strikes her fancy. She’s been playing and singing American folk music since the early 1960s growing up in New York’s Greenwich Village. She currently lives in Washington, D.C.

Andy Cohen is a superb blues guitarist, singer, pianist, and historian, especially involved with the work of Rev. Gary Davis. He learned from the best bluesmen of the 1960’s. He has performed and taught at festivals, camps and colleges to great acclaim. Andy also plays such unusual instruments as the dulccelea, and no one can challenge an audience like Andy!

Dennis Cook plays backup piano, sings, and accompanies Judy on concertina. He has led slow jams over the last decade for the enjoyment of all. He is also a sound engineer: recording, mixing, mastering, and doing live-sound mixing.

Judy Cook brings a powerful voice, a great-unaccompanied style and a deep respect for tradition to her performances of a huge repertoire of (mostly) American songs and ballads. Judy’s singing is marked by a command of narrative that pulls the audience in to know what the song is about. Her style and presentation are a credit to her sources.

Christine Cooper grew up in Wales in a home full of instruments. At eighteen she took off to see the world with her fiddle on her back. After playing and singing in China, Australia and South Africa, she turned to the traditional music of Wales and England. She brings creativity and respect to her music.

Jerry Epstein is a fine singer of (mostly) unaccompanied traditional song of the Eastern US and Canada, and a pretty fair concertina player. He has taken the American traditional songs to far-flung places around the world, including Australia, New Zealand, China, and Russia.

Jean Farnworth, also known as Lady Loriwynn the Harper, collects and performs with historical non-pedal harps used in the oral traditions of Irish, Scottish, Welsh, Breton, American Colonial and Civil War periods. She has a fine contralto voice. Jean will be performing with Evy Mayer as Double Trouble

Alan Friend plays old time music on a variety of instruments (banjo, guitar, Concertina & fiddle) and is also a singer of ballads. He is a founding member of the Chelsea String Band.

Howard Glasser is the founding father of the Eisteddfod and Festival Director Emeritus. He recorded an important and impressive collection of songs from Scotland in the original source singers in the 1960s. He generally provides us with samples of his collection and his stories of the people he collected from. A noted calligrapher, Howard designed the Eisteddfod-NY logo.

Dave Harvey has been calling contra, square, circle and couples dances in the New England tradition for over 15 years for beginning and advanced dancers. Dave is an avid step dancer performing at festivals and concerts. Dave leads the monthly NYC Barn Dance in Manhattan.

Chris Koldewey has been singing and playing folk music, and sea music in particular, since he was a teenager. A public school music teacher, Chris spends his “free time” as a Shantyman at Mystic Seaport Museum. He plays guitar, banjo, mandolin, fiddle, and concertina.

Carl Linich has been a scholar, teacher, and performer of traditional Georgian polyphonic singing since 1990, and is a member of Trio Kavakasia. After being introduced to Georgian vocal polyphony through the Hudson Valley’s Kartuli Ensemble, Carl eventually went on to live in Georgia for about 10 years.

Bob Malenky is an eclectic performer, concentrating on the blues but at home with union songs, Woody Guthrie, and traditional folk songs. He plays guitar (learned from Muddy Waters and Lightnin’ Hopkins); has performed with Sonny Terry and Brownie McGhee and has taught courses in world folk music at City College.

Evy Mayer sings and plays ukulele, guitar, dumbek and a host of other percussion instruments. She collects popular songs of the early 1900s, as well as rounds, humorous songs, children's music, plus Balkan and other international music. She loves to sing harmony and funny songs, and to folk dance. Evy will be performing with Jean Farnworth as Double Trouble.

Caroline Paton draws upon a vast repertoire developed over many years of collecting folksongs, with her late husband, Sandy, throughout the English-speaking world, from the Southern Appalachians to the Ozarks, from Scotland and England to the Maritime Provinces of Canada. Caroline was the founders of Folk Legacy Records.

Rob Paton is a fine singer and musician. The son of Sandy and Caroline, he follows in the family's musical traditions.

Anne Price is a versatile and gifted singer who sings a wide variety of traditional and contemporary songs.

John Roberts is a superb English singer who plays banjo, guitar, concertina, and hurdy-gurdy, as well as being a fine musicologist and music editor. He, with long-time performing partner Tony Barrand, has performed to great acclaim in every corner of the US and Canada for more than 35 years.

Dave Ruch is equal parts historian, entertainer, educator, comedian and folklorist. He finds his song material in dusty archives, obscure songbooks, diaries, old recordings, scholarly journals and sometimes from his own children, and brings these gems to life. Whether singing in the old unaccompanied style, or backing himself on banjo, guitar, mandolin, octave mandolin, bones, spoons, washboard or jaw harp, joyful songs captivate audiences young and old. He will give a special FREE workshop in the Traditional and Historical Songs of N.Y. State on Sunday, 11 am.

Steve Suffet is best described as an old-fashioned folk singer. He is a tireless researcher into the lesser-known songs of Woody Guthrie.

Zelilha Temren will present a workshop on Turkish music.

Heather Wood is a veteran singer from the English revival for some 40+ years, dating from her days with The Young Tradition. An outstanding singer, she has a great repertoire of ballads, historical songs, love and agricultural songs, and a lot from the humorous side. In addition to the old songs, she has written some dynamite new ones.

Olga Zaric, originally from Serbia, now lives in Montreal. She sings traditional duet material from Brittany with Claire Boucher and is a strong singer of a capella Serbian and Macedonian traditional music. She speaks French, Spanish, Italian, and Serbian, and currently co-directs the Breton Union vocal ensemble in Montreal.

John Ziv writes songs, and plays ‘em too, mostly to his fiercely loyal, but exceedingly tiny fan club. He wasted the first fifty-some years of his life not writing songs, and is now trying to make up for lost time. John is perhaps better known for baking cookies and other confections.

Emcees: Mary Cliff (WAMU) and Ron Olesko (WFDU) will be returning as MC’s.

Soundman: Don Wade has 4 decades of experience in sound reinforcement and will be providing excellent sound, as he does at all our events.
